August 24th, 2022

Dear members of the Board of Libraries,

Enclosed you will find a petition to rename Negro Brook in Townshend, Vermont. Through an inclusive process, a small group of residents of Townshend and nearby towns revisited the question of this brook, understanding that the previous geographic naming petition process in 2021, with a different group of petitioners, confirmed that a majority of those engaging expressed a desire to change the name.

With goals of identifying an appropriate name and engaging the residents of Townshend in this topic, our group spent considerable time over many months meeting informally and formally with the Townshend Historical Society and the Townshend Selectboard. In addition, outreach to the local organization of the Elnu Abenaki tribe and the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People occurred.

With prior research conducted by earlier petitioners, the group consulted with the president of the Townshend Historical Society for recommendations for renaming the brook. After additional research, including town records, it was decided to take the recommendation of the name Huzzy Brook, after many discussions of possible variations, to honor both James and Susannah Huzzy.

The group engaged with many Townshend residents, as well as additional local residents, and many others visiting the area through a variety of events and processes. We also engaged with members of the Vermont Board of Libraries staff on the process.

Enclosed with the petition you will find letters of support and signatures from a sizeable group of supporters.

We look forward to meeting with you on this important issue.

Appendix B. Rationale for Renaming

In the United States, the word ‘negro’ was used to count free slaves in the census. And in its earlier days, no name would be associated with the count of a “negro” household. To change the name of Negro Brook to an impactful local Black family from the early years of our country, is to acknowledge that every “negro” in Vermont has a name; and, that that identity matters.

Furthermore, because of this history, and its related etymology to the slave trade, it is at times considered antiquated and offensive to many folks of color. This is not reflective of our evolving socio-cultural usage.
Appendix C. Description of Historical documentation

We wish to honor both Susannah (1750-1854) and James Huzzy (1734-1822), Black Americans who lived in the Townshend area (including Acton, which became part of Townshend in 1841) in the late 18th and early 19th centuries. There is no complete historical record of the lives of these two individuals, as is the case for many living during this time-period, but especially those of Black Americans. However, we do have historical documentation of significant events in their lives.

James had enlisted as a soldier in 1775. Through the U.S. Revolutionary War Pension and Bounty-Land Warrant Application Files, 1800-1900, we have record of a warrant filed regarding James’ service during this time. James Huzzey testified in Townshend that he enlisted in the spring of 1775 in and served until 1783 when he was honorably discharged. Susannah noted that they were married in 1776, in Upton, MA., after James had served in Lexington and was at Bunker Hill in 1775.

We also have documentation of James’ service in Vermont, in which he is documented as serving for 127 days (See Appendix D). For the 1810 federal census, the Huzzy family of eight was recorded in Townshend, VT (See Appendix E.) In 1818, James applied for a pension, in Townshend, and began receiving the pension the next year. By 1820, their Townshend household contained 5 people. [The federal census recorded only head of household names until 1850.] James died March 11, 1822

We have additional records of Susannah receiving James’ pension after his death (see Appendix F.) and additional documentation of key dates, taken under oath, regarding various aspects of the couple’s lives. While James and Susannah were not the only Black Americans residing in this area during this time-period (the 1810 census recorded 15 Black individuals in Townshend), they are representative of individuals whose lives suggest hard work, service, and perseverance, as well as the challenges reflective of this period in American history.

Susannah lived to the age of 104, a remarkable testimony to what we might call today “grit.” Susannah is documented in the Townshend land records as being a landowner, being sold “a certain piece or parcel of land ...being in Townshend” by Eben Brigham, recorded on September 27th, 1826. This is remarkable as this is not typical of the time for a Black woman to be a property owner in Vermont.

Geographic Naming Petition to Rename Negro Brook, located in Townshend, Vermont
8/22/22

Bibliography

Vermont, Windham County, Townshend Land Records, Vol 8, p. 211. Town Archives, Townshend, Vermont.

Dear Library Board Members,

The Townshend Historical Society supports the proposed change of the name of Negro Brook to Huzzy Brook for Susannah and James Huzzy. The brook is located within the Townshend State Forest. We were glad to provide the petitioners with supportive, historical documentation verifying that Susannah and James Huzzy resided in the Townshend area in the late 18th and early 19th centuries. We look forward to seeing this petition move on to the next phase in the process.

Sincerely,

To: The Townshend Historical Society
From: The Windham County Branch of the NAACP

Dear Townshend Historical Society,

We, the Windham County Branch of the NAACP, are writing to you today to directly ask that you rename “Negro Brook” as soon as possible. We understand that this brook might have been named long ago, and we also understand that its name might carry cultural significance to some. However, for those who are the American descendants of slaves (ADOS), and their white allies, the word ‘negro’ often harkens memories of oppression that we collectively fought hard to overcome. “If us Black folks wanted to be called negros, then that’s what we would call ourselves. We do not use that word.”

Though it may seem abrupt, the excess of recent events, such as the murders of Breonna Taylor, George Floyd, Ahamad Aubrey, and hundreds of trans Black women (to name only a few) have accelerated a much-needed cultural shift around the language and the symbols that we use to represent our marginalized populations. Structurally, we believe that this linguistic shift points us in the right direction as the words we use and the symbols we espouse creates and contextualizes the world in which we live. We paint the picture, so we are responsible for its outcome. “We believe it is time for that world to reflect the values of all citizens of this nation, especially the voices of those whose hands built it.”

Lastly, we want to note that we stand in solidarity with those who are already petitioning you to change this name to something more fitting for the times of fierce liberation in which we live. We would graciously accept the opportunity to discuss and even help members of the town and the historical society in the renaming process. We recommend changing the name to Huzzy Brook. We hope to hear from you soon.

Signed,

Dear Library Board Members;

The Townshend Selectboard supports the proposed name change of a brook within the Townshend State Forest from Negro Brook to Huzzy Brook. Many Townshend residents have signed a petition requesting the change and the Townshend Historical Society has voted to support the name change as well.

Given this support and the history we have learned about Susannah and James Huzzy, the Selectboard has voted unanimously to support the change as well.

Finally, we ask that the Townshend Selectboard be notified of the State Library hearing concerning this matter.

Re VBL Hearing for Renaming of Negro Brook Petition

June 7, 2022

Dear Members of the Board,

I write to you again in my capacity as appointed spokesperson and Cultural Resource officer for the Elnu Abenaki Tribe, centered in southern Vermont and geographically the closest State-recognized Tribe to the subject feature in Townshend. Please enter this letter into the hearing record on this matter.

Elnu Abenaki would like to offer our support to the Petitioner’s position in this shared effort to move toward respect, sensitivity, equity and inclusivity, with and for all community members. Whereas there may be ambiguity about the significance or intent in using a particular racialized term at its historical inception, we cannot ignore its associated potential for diminishing and harmful effects now and going forward. It is our responsibility as Indigenous People and as humans to foster balanced and affirming relationships with each other and with our Mother. The change from Negro Brook to Huzzy Brook is a positive and needful move toward balance.

The cultural biases that enable and empower disparate valuations and derivative treatment of other human beings spring from the same ‘othering’ mindset of separability that spawns systemic settler colonialism. As we treat each other, so we treat the Land and – to be clear – All of Our Relations. When a toponym which, in the mouth and ears of its users, has strong potential to reinforce dysfunctional relationships is imposed upon this landscape, it is neither appropriate nor honoring. Further, as water is culturally considered the ‘first medicine’, the naming of this brook should engender healing and vital benefit.

Thank you for your consideration and we trust you will find a thoughtful resolution.
