

VTLIB'S TUESDAY TALKS

Focus on Vermont's Forests: The Emerald Ash Borer

Tuesday, May 21, 2019

12:00-1:00 pm

Pavilion Building Auditorium

Emerald ash borer (EAB) is a destructive and invasive forest pest that feeds on and eventually kills all species of ash trees. EAB is now confirmed in Orange, Washington, Caledonia, Grand Isle, and Bennington Counties and communities statewide are encouraged to prepare for the impacts of the pest.

Join Elise Schadler, Technical Assistance Coordinator of the Vermont Urban & Community Forestry Program to learn more about this invasive pest and what you can do to slow the spread.

Elise Schadler is the Vermont Urban and Community Forestry Program's Technical Assistance Coordinator. She is on the front lines helping towns prepare for and respond to the invasive emerald ash borer. She first moved to Vermont to pursue an M.S. from the Rubenstein School of Environment & Natural Resources at UVM. An ISA Certified Arborist and a Burlington Master Naturalist, Elise enjoys spending quality time with her family and the good people that fill her life. May 18th – 24th is Emerald Ash Borer Awareness Week.
